NEW CAR COMPANY INCORPORATED

Lima Street Railway Concern Capitalized at $750,000

ABLE BACKERS ARE SECRET

Papers Do Not Carry Names of Real Incorporators

Articles of incorporation for the Lima City Street Railway Co., were filed with the secretary of state at Columbus Monday. Capitalization was placed at $750,000.
Incorporators as they appeared on the application were D. J. Cable, attorney for railway interests; C. M. Cable, an attorney and son of D. J. Cable; John L. Cable, congressman and son of D. J. Cable; Catharine Cable, secretary to D. J. Cable; and F. A. Bundy, in charge of operation of the Ohio Electric street railway at the present time.
It was pointed out by Cable that the incorporators are not the actual parties behind the new company. A move to get the organization completed and working prior to the sale of the Ohio Electric property Tuesday made it necessary to incorporate in this manner.
When the city commission meets Monday night it will be dealing with the real company, organized under the name of the state and ready to receive franchise and commerce operation as soon as the property is purchased from the state.
Practical agreement to all the provisions of the franchise has been announced by the city officials and the grant is expected to pass its first reading at the Monday night meeting.

WILL BID ON PROPERTY

With the franchise assured and the company incorporated, the interests backing Cable will go to the sale at Toledo Tuesday prepared to purchase the street railway property, Cable says.
Cable would not indicate when he will announce the names of the interests behind the new company, but it is understood they will be made known should they be successful bidders at the sale.
"There is no limited money back of the company and it is fully able to carry out the expansion program," he announced on various occasions.
Consideration of the electric power franchise to be granted to the Ohio Power Co., will also form a part of the commission's program Monday night. A contract for street lighting will be discussed.
It is predicted by commissioners that the power franchise will also pass its first reading, permitting the company to bid at the sale and to begin the revamping of the lines here immediately.

REVOLT CRUSHED

Uprising in Nicaragua Put Down by Government

MANAGUA, N. C. — (Associated Press) — The government has succeeded in suppressing an insipient revolution which began when Chinandega, a city of 15,000 population, about 60 miles from Corinto, a Pacific seaport, was attacked twice by members of the lower element of the liberty party in Nicaragua who were reinforced by refugees from Honduras and Salvador.
Two revolutionists were killed and eight refugees wounded by the government forces.
Later on the same night a similar attack was made on Leon, the largest city of Nicaragua.
Gov. Gustavo Arguello of the department of Chinandega, was wounded, and two policemen were killed during the disorder; many revolutionists were wounded. The government scattered the rebels and order now prevails.
Because of the revolutionary disturbance in the departments of Leon and Chinandega martial law has been declared in the republic for sixty days.

DOCTOR PLEADS FOR MAN WHO CARRIED OFF HIS "GAS"

Walter Guy, negro employee of Dr. A. F. Basinger, 640 W. Market-st., was virtually made a ward of the physician, Monday, by Judge Emmet Jackson of police court.
Guy was accused by Basinger of taking 10 gallons of gasoline from his private supply. While the doctor was away on vacation, Guy admitted it in police court.
The judge fined him $50 and sentenced him to serve 30 days in the Toledo workhouse.
A plea for clemency voiced by the physician brought a suspension of the sentence.
Guy, however, is required to "behave" under the direction of the doctor, and to pay for the gasoline he took.

Lord Northcliffe Falls Victim of Blood Poisoning

DEATH SHOCKS ENGLAND

May Effect Opposition to Lloyd George

LONDON — (Associated Press) — Viscount Northcliffe, noted British publicist, died this morning.
News of Lord Northcliffe's death was given out by the doctors who have been attending him in this bulletin.
"Viscount Northcliffe died at 10:12 o'clock. The end was perfectly peaceful."
The death of no other unofficial person could have made a deeper impression in England than that of Lord Northcliffe. The news was not a surprise as the bulletin issued for the last week by the doctors plainly indicated that their patient was dying. The nature of the fatal disease has not yet been revealed but it is expected the public soon will be told.
LLOYD GEORGE OPPONENT
Lord Northcliffe was by far the most noted figure in British journalism and the first question on everyone's lips was as to what effect his death will have on the policies of the Times and his other newspapers, which since the end of the war have strongly opposed the Lloyd George administration and its principles with the notable exception of its dealings with Ireland, which the Northcliffe press supported through out.
Later it was stated that the cause of Lord Northcliffe's death was suppurative, or the production of pus, within the heart, which was followed by acute blood poisoning.

OHIO MAN SLAIN

Killing by Mexican Bandits Confirmed by Washington

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Confirmation of the death of Guy Marks, 48, at the hands of Mexican bandits has been received from the state department at Washington, by his sister, Mrs. Edith Kibler, of North Lewisburg, Ohio.
Details of the murder have been supplied by George T. Martin, San Antonio, Tex., who was wounded in the same attack.
According to Martin, Marks and he were asleep in a tent in Le Scater, a mining camp in the state of Durango, when they were suddenly attacked.
Marks was stabbed to death in bed before he could offer any resistance, while Martin, after being shot in the abdomen, was left for dead. The bandits then stole all the money and valuables they could find.

THEFTS OF AUTOMOBILE EQUIPMENT ARE REPORTED

Two automobiles were stripped of equipment over the week-end according to reports given the Lima police department.
A tire and rim were stolen from a machine belonging to M. A. Lenza, 3441 Bellefontaine-av., he reported. A motorometer was taken from a car owned by N. Schwartz, 1137 Brice-av., while he was at the ball game Sunday, he said.
Carl Stemple, of Ada, told police that a gold watch was stolen from his clothes while he was swimming at McCullough's park Sunday.
Police are investigating the thefts.

COAL FOR HOMES IS EXHAUSTED

Lima Dealers Advise Against Buying at Present Prices

INDUSTRIES ARE USING OIL

Settlement of Strike Will Assure Local Supplies

There is not a pound of coal to be found in any coal yard in the city which is available for domestic consumers, a survey of the situation showed Monday.
Small amounts of coal are on hand in the various yards but these are purchased by contractors working on streets and sewers and cannot be diverted to other channels without holding up necessary work. Various amounts were reported by the dealers as being on the road between the mines and the city but as long as the rail strike shows no signs of betterment the shipments may be delayed indefinitely.
Industrial Lima will reach the critical point sometime the latter part of this week, purchasing agents of the various plants believe. In many plants the coal supply is down to the last few shovelfuls.
Oil burners have been installed in a number of the plants. A shipment of oil burning apparatus was expected from the Ohio Steel Foundry Monday to supplement present equipment.

OIL IS CHEAPER

Oil at the present time is cheaper than coal but it is not so agreeable to use. Unless carefully regulated the direct flame plays havoc with fire boxes and boilers, officials of the steel plant said.
Use of gas in the smaller industries such as laundries, bakeries and such of the larger plants as can use it economically is being urged by H. L. Breckenridge, Lima fuel administrator.
Domestic consumers use on the average of 10 tons of coal a year. This makes the domestic consumption around 103,000 tons a year for the entire city, dealers estimate.
Some consumers use only two or three tons of coal while others use as much as 25 tons or even more. Some of these consumers can obtain wood or other fuel in case of an emergency, it is believed.
At the present time only a small fraction of the coal needed for the winter is in the household bins. Various estimates have been given, placing the amount at from 10 to 20 per cent of the needs. The lowest figure is the nearest correct, dealers believe.

Prices on coal at the present time would range above $15 a ton delivered at the house. Dealers say it can be procured at that figure. Very little coal is being ordered at the price, however, as the dealers feel it is too high and do not ask the consumers to buy.
Last sales of coal to consumers have been made at practically the same figures as last year—$8 a ton, it was reported.

DEALERS UNDECIDED

Coal dealers are undecided as to future developments. If the rail strike should be settled they feel that the situation would be cleared somewhat especially if the mines should reopen.
There is a feeling that the Cleveland conference will bring about a settlement but it is pointed out that with the rail lines crippled it will be impossible to move all the coal needed.
Demands for as much as 18,000,000 tons from the Northwest will also have to be filled before much coal will be available for Ohio consumers. Coal supplies in that region are exhausted and cold weather is already near.
Relief for Lima consumers is about two months away, the consensus of opinion showed. It will take that length of time to get essential industries supplied. Even then only small supplies will come thru.

Coal men are optimistic and have been advising against the purchase of coal at the present high prices.
One dealer reported he has orders filed with a mine which will be filled the moment the miners start back to work. With an ending of the two strikes, Lima can hope for supplies of coal before the snow flies, dealers feel.

CHEER NEWS!

Cost to Parents of Keeping Children in School Is Lower

Here's glad news for the parents of Sally, Johnny, Susan, Henry and all the rest of the young America of Allen-co:
Cost of school books has decreased!
County Superintendent C. A. Arganbright has found a material drop in quotations on all texts, from Shakespeare's Julius Caesar, which sells for 25 cents, to the pithy accounts of ancient history, which bring several dollars.
Despite the slumps, however, prices are still from 25 to 30 per cent higher than pre-war figures.
As a general proposition, it will cost less to send children to school than last term. Arganbright's survey shows that the cost of clothing and food is considerably more than the cost of school because of the tax on the family purse.
The annual preparation is on. Arganbright has found that getting Sally and Johnny ready to take up their "burdens" again is attracting more interest than it ever has. Some schools open Labor Day, but the majority, September 5.

SAWMILLER FIRES AT POLICEMAN

Holds Liquor Raiders at Bay With Revolver, Charge

Clarence Sawmiller, 212 E. Wayne-st., fired point blank at Ray Blair, policeman, Sunday night, when the officer sought to enter his home, to search for liquor, police reported to headquarters.
Four officers accompanying Blair then forced their way into the room, with drawn guns. The shot had missed Blair. Police relieved Sawmiller of his weapon.
Sawmiller was placed under arrest, charged with resisting with intent to kill. He waived preliminary hearing before Judge Jackson in criminal court, Monday morning, and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond.
Police went to the Sawmiller home Sunday following arrest of an intoxicated man near his place, and after reports given them that Sawmiller was selling liquor. Armed with a search warrant, they ransacked the place but found nothing, they reported.

RETURN TO HOME

Expressing the belief that the liquor had been moved in anticipation of a raid, police returned later and sought to search the home again.
Blair is reported to have placed his hand on the door of the house and demanded that it be opened. Sawmiller is then reported to have accused the officers of being "chicken thieves."

Police persisted in their demands that they be admitted. Their persistence, they said, was increased by sounds of breaking glass inside.
Sawmiller is then reported to have fired at Blair.
Upon entering the house, a strong smell of whisky arose from the kitchen sink, Virgil Cook, one of the raiding officers reported. Broken whisky bottles were found, he declared, some of the broken glass was taken to headquarters.
Sawmiller, police say, has been arrested before on charges of violating prohibition laws. One case in which he was fined $1,000 by Judge Emmett Jackson of police court, was appealed to common pleas court. Jackson's verdict was sustained and the fine ordered paid.

OLE S WONT RUN

YOUNGSTOWN — George L. Oles, who resigned as mayor of Youngstown in June, and who has been considering a revival of his independent candidacy for governor of Ohio, which he launched and then abandoned last spring, today announced definitely that he will not run.
according to indications. A protest will be forwarded to the city commission, it was said Monday.
Grocers paying taxes to the city of Lima are suffering inroads into their business as the result of the activity of peddlers, the backers of the movement declare.
Unlicensed dealers who carry their wares from house to house in this city, they say, buy their provisions from farmers and wholesalers, and without regulation of any kind, dispense them to people in this city.

END OF WALKOUT TOMORROW SEEN

Expected to Result from Cleveland Conference

LEWIS, OWNERS OPTIMISTIC

Arbitration Question Remains to be Settled

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — After a week spent in preliminaries, the joint conference of miners and soft coal operators controlling an annual production of 40,000,000 tons today was near a showdown in its negotiations for peace. On the heels of the soft coal meeting, the miners were preparing to resume negotiations with the hard coal operators, who employ 150,000 men in Pennsylvania.
President John L. Lewis of the miners was optimistic as to the peace possibilities of both conferences, expecting the end of the soft coal parley to come by tomorrow evening, bringing settlement of the strike. Some operators also forecast opening of some mines on Wednesday.

The soft coal men, however, were stranded over the question of compulsory arbitration of future settlements. Mr. Lewis had declared the union's unalterable opposition to arbitration and Michael Gallagher, heading the operators, was holding out for a commission of broad powers including that it was necessary to force its decision.
As a compromise, Mr. Lewis had agreed to fact finding advisory committee, the personnel of which would be approved by the president.

Mr. Lewis and Gallagher had been delegated the task of making a report and they had agreed to the re-establishment of wage contracts that were in force when the strike began April 1. The new contract, however, was to run only until March 31, 1923.

OLD WAGES OFFERED

CLEVELAND — (Associated Press) — An offer to end the anthracite strike by agreeing to the wage scale in force when the strike was called was received today by President John L. Lewis of the miners. It came from S. D. Warriner, head of the anthracite operators scale committee.

Accepting Mr. Warriner's invitation to meet the operators in conference at Philadelphia on Wednesday, Lewis said:
"The broad premise upon which you have based your invitation is commendable and augurs well for the success of the conference."
When the joint sub-scale committee met, its members were informed that no agreement had been made by Mr. Lewis and Mr. Gallagher. Both leaders had refused to be moved from their opposite stands as compulsory arbitration. The report of the failure precipitated sharp debate.

Mr. Lewis' telegram to Mr. Warriner follows:
"The broad premise upon which you have based your invitation is commendable and augurs well for the success of the conference. I can assure you the representatives of the United Mine Workers will approach the conference in the same broad spirit with the keen determination to effectuate an adjustment mutually satisfactory to the public, the operators and the miners. I am sure that such a settlement will be a tremendous aid to our nation and its citizens in relieving public embarrassment and in restoring mutual confidence and respect."
ACTION URGED BY HARDING
PHILADELPHIA — (Associated Press) — Samuel D. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., and spokesmen for the anthracite coal operators, announced today that he had notified John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, that the mine owners were willing to resume operation in the hard coal fields at the old wage scale pending the appointment of a commission to investigate the situation.

Mr. Warriner said he had telegraphed Mr. Lewis suggesting that a conference of anthracite operators and representatives of the miners be held in this city Wednesday.
Mr. Warriner's action followed a

AVIATORS BURNED TO DEATH

2 Die When Flames Envelop Plane at Wright Field

DAYTON — (Associated Press) — Two McCook Field aviators were burned to death today in a "speed test." The men, Lieutenant Louis Morlarity of New York, and civilian observer William Stonebraker, of Dayton, were burned beyond recognition while the machine was about 75 feet above ground, over Wright Field, near here.
Officials at Wright Field where the plane fell after it had burned, said it was not possible to identify either man, so badly had they been burned.
The men left McCook Field, Dayton, about 10:30 a. m., and made a test run toward Wilbur Wright Field, about 10 miles east.
At Wilbur Wright Field it was known as "a speed course" and it was here the plane caught fire.
Spectators were unable to give any assistance and the plane was evidently beyond the control of the aviators.
A military board immediately was assembled, the debris removed and an investigation started.

Official Count Required in Ohio Attorney General Contest

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Final official figures, as compiled by the secretary of state, will be required to determine whether B. F. McDonald, Newark, or Stephen Young, Cleveland, is the Democratic nominee for attorney general.
On unofficial figures, McDonald had a lead of 148 votes over Young. Official count of the vote in Cuyahoga-co gave Young 56 more votes than he was credited with on unofficial returns, cutting McDonald's lead down to 92 votes.
Changes in the totals from outlying counties may easily wipe out this margin and show Young the winner.

GROCERS AND BUTCHERS OPEN WAR ON PEDDLERS

Open war has been declared by Lima grocers and butchers, on peddlers whom they charge have flooded the city to compete with them.
An organization, for the purpose of affecting one that will include all grocers and butchers in the city, has set the movement afoot.
A mass meeting of the 350 to 400 grocers and butchers in this city, has been called for Tuesday night at the courthouse. The matter will be thrashed out at the time, according to indications. A protest will be forwarded to the city commission, it was said Monday.

BULLETIN

CORBIN, Ky. — (Associated Press) — Twelve hundred trainmen, members of the big four brotherhoods, employed on the Cumberland division of the L. & N. railroad left their trains at 10 o'clock this morning (3-14) in the great Harlan and Bell county coal districts.

NEW YORK. — (United Press) — Twenty women and children were in hospitals today, victims of bombers who last night hurled three charges of dynamite against a crowded excursion train of the West Shore Railroad, near Little Ferry, N. J., in the first serious outbreak of violence aimed at passengers since the railroad strike began.

State police and railroad detectives were looking for two men in an automobile observed near the scene of the bombing, a short time before the attack took place.

The first bomb struck the third coach crowded with excursionists returning from the seashore. A loud detonation that rocked the car and a blinding glare, threw the crowded coach into pandemonium.

A moment later a second bomb struck another car further back in the train. Windows were shattered and women and children were hurled from their seats. Curiously few men were injured.

While cool passengers tried to restore order on the train, the third bomb bounded against another coach as the rear coaches passed over a small trestle. Practically every pane of glass in the entire train was shattered.

Cars, all of which were steel, were otherwise undamaged, but the final bomb tore tracks from their moorings.

The train was stopped briefly while the crew examined the damage, and was then rushed to Weehawken, where ambulances hurried the injured to hospitals.

SAN FRANCISCO. — (United Press) — Violence in the railroad strike broke out again early today, when five bombs were exploded in the Southern Pacific yards at Roseville, Calif. None was injured.

Engineers, firemen and switch men on local lines converging at Roseville, an important point of the Pacific coast Express, went on strike. The stoppage means an estimated loss of $1,000,000 a day to California fruit growers.

CHICAGO. — (Associated Press) — Further paralysis of rail transportation in the far west and at least two instances of serious violence against railroad property marked the opening hours of the seventh week of the strike of rail shop craft workers.

President Harding's proffer of unstinted federal aid for passengers suffering in trains stalled in the humid Arizona wastes met ready response Governor Thomas E. Campbell, immediately upon receipt of the president's telegram, sent Col. Walter S. Ingalls, adjutant general, to Selkman to report "at the earliest possible moment."

Reports of instances of personal violence to non-union workers who have replaced the men who went on strike showed the usual sabbatical infrequency but for the first time attacks of magnitude were made against railroad property.

LIVES OF PASSENGERS were endangered and ten persons were injured when a passenger train loaded principally with week-end excursionists was bombed at Grand Junction, N. J. Steel coaches which were marked visibly by the explosions served as veritable bomb proofs in protecting the passengers.

At Ash Grove, Mo., the St. Louis and San Francisco's 400-foot bridge over the Sny River, was dynamited. The north abutment was destroyed, according to early and fragmentary reports, and for quite a distance the tracks were raised a foot.

Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railways shops at Wichita Falls, Texas. Three locomotives, numerous coaches and box cars were lost.

It was only with difficulty that several loaded oil trains were saved. Bombs were thrown into the Southern Pacific yards at Roseville, Calif., early today.

Officials of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway announced at Wichita, Kas., that any attempt to tie up traffic by striking train crews would result in immediate

LITIGATION PILES UP IN COUNTY

Cases Filed Faster Than Judges Can Hear Them

BECKER PASSES ON 769

1,500 Suits are Pending in Probate Court Now

Records of both common pleas court, and probate court in Allen-co show that litigation in the county increased at the rate of 10 per cent during the last year.

Courts are hard put to dispose of the suits filed, and as only about 1 case out of a hundred is being heard by an outside judge.

Three jurists from neighboring counties sat in common pleas court during the year ending August 1, 1922. One heard two cases, another listened to one, and the third, took care of one large divorce case besides disposing of some minor motions. The divorce matter has required the judge's presence in the city twice since its settlement.

HEARS MANY CASES
Working at top speed, Judge Fred C. Becker has managed to hear 769 cases in the last year, out of a total of 1,229.

Of this number, 822 cases were filed within the year and 407 left over from the previous year.

Commencing August 1, the court is starting off with a handicap of 64 cases more than last year.

For this year cases pending, when John T. Cotner closed his yearly report numbered 461. On the ratio of increase of the last year, it is probable that 900 cases will be filed this year.

Court of appeals heard 26 Allen-co cases out of a total of 59 on its docket, in the last year. There still are 31 Allen-co cases pending to be decided.

Beside Allen-co cases, the court heard matters on appeal from 15 other counties, in addition to sitting in cases originating in Cuyahoga-co and Lucas-co.

Probate court has more than 1,500 cases pending, which may not be closed up for years. They concern the settlement of estates and guardianships.

Probate matters are increasing, according to John Kephart, clerk, having shown a remarkable jump since the annual report was made six months ago.

MANY CASES STARTED
Records show that some 317 new cases, concerning the appointment of guardians, administrators and executors were instituted in the 12-month period ending August 1.

The court also heard 60 lunacy cases in the last year. Of the number committed to state institutions five have since died.

When an administrator or guardian is appointed by the court, the case is only in its infancy, Kephart says. When there are minors interested, final settlement cannot be made until the youngest is of age.

Beside appointing 143 guardians, during the year, Judge Hamilton, heard a number of juvenile cases.

NEW START PLAN OF M'CLURE

Sanity Test May Bar Him From Liberty, However

Guy McCune, 28, 1105 Fairview, who attempted suicide Saturday, is ready to start life anew, he told Lima police Monday morning.

But a barrier against his future plans has arisen.

An attempt will be made to test the sanity of the young man it was learned Monday. He may be sent to a state hospital for the demented, if the will of his parents is carried out by police.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McClure, Columbus, Ohio, visited police headquarters Monday morning. They arrived after police court had adjourned.

Judge Hamilton of probate court could not be located. Likewise Judge Becker of common pleas court could not be reached.

As a result, efforts to dispose of the case of the young man were delayed.

McClure lay in his cell at headquarters, exhausted from the strain under which he has been living during the past number of days. Since Thursday, he said, he has had nothing to eat. He refuses food, declaring he is not hungry.

HASN'T SEEN FAMILY
His wife and three little children have not visited him, he told a reporter Monday.

It was for their sake, he declared that he attempted to end his life Saturday. McClure took poison Saturday afternoon after an argument with his wife, police say. He was given medical attention before it could take effect.

"Guess I'll leave Lima and start all over again," McClure told a newspaper man Monday. "I'm a registered pharmacist and I know the real estate business. I think I'll go to Memphis, Tenn., and start all over again."

When asked about his wife and children, McClure said that as soon as he could make good again he would call for them and try to take care of them.

He was turned over to his parents by the police Monday.

MARRIAGE RESTRICTIONS FOR CLERGYMEN REMOVED

MOSCOW—All restrictions on marriage for bishops and clergymen have been removed by the "Living Church Congress" of the recently formed soviet church whose members are working to have the new church take the place of the old orthodox church.

It is contended that by permitting marriages clergymen are brought to closer contact with the community. Regarding monks, the congress decided that the higher monks may disregard their vows and marry, still retaining their positions.

TRAIN BOMBED IN STRIKE RIOT

RAIL LINES BLOCKED

SAN FRANCISCO (Associated Press)—Northern and Central California today were without fast freight train transportation east and seemed in a fair way to lose the one remaining route for passenger traffic as a result of the spread of transportation brotherhood walkouts to Roseville and Sacramento, Cal.

The principal line north also was lost, last night. At Roseville the railroad officials at midnight declared an embargo on all perishable freight including livestock, for points "north of Garber and east of Roseville."

It was explained that this created an admittedly serious situation for fruit growers of northern California.

Crews of two passenger trains abandoned them at Sacramento and the lines were still there early today. Should the other crews follow their example, the only route remaining over which passenger traffic could flow east and west would be the Southern Pacific's Sunset limited from Los Angeles.

SYSTEM PARALYZED

The Santa Fe system virtually was paralyzed by walkouts of brotherhood men at Needles, Cal., Seligman, Ashfork, Williams and Winslow, Ariz., and there was one in prospect at Albuquerque, N. M.

The Union Pacific's line from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles was blocked solidly by refusal of brotherhood men at several points, chiefly at Las Vegas, Nevada, to move trains.

The Western Pacific, operating between San Francisco and Salt Lake City, was blocked completely by walkouts at Oroville, Oakland and Stockton, Cal., and announced that traffic was "suspended indefinitely."

On the Santa Fe, 19 westbound trains were marooned and one was teeling its way eastward from Needles where it had been held several days with officials doubtful as to how far it would get. Approximately 1,700 passengers were aboard these trains, six of which were at Albuquerque and the others at Seligman, Williams and Ashfork.

A telegram from President Harding to Governor Campbell of Arizona, offering aid for those aboard these trains remained unanswered because the governor was traveling and had not received it. The passengers marooned at Albuquerque telegraphed President Harding that he take command of the situation.

The Santa Fe planned to try to move trains west from Seligman today.

At Los Angeles preliminary steps were taken yesterday to make an investigation into the origin of the walkouts on the Santa Fe to determine whether they were the result of a conspiracy.

Attorney General Daugherty, in ordering the inquiry instructed that evidence discovered be taken before a grand jury, if sufficient to warrant that step.

Governor Boyle of Nevada, was at Las Vegas today inquiring, according to a statement given the Associated Press, into apparent discrepancies between statements made to him by railroad officials and by the civil officers at that place regarding the situation.

About 150 guards and railroad employees virtually were prisoners at Las Vegas, the men on strike refusing to allow food to be taken to the enclosure where they were quartered.

The Southern Pacific's double embargo was a hard blow to the fruit growing interests. It meant that it would be impossible, because of the switch yard employees strike at Roseville to give cars loaded with fruit over the necessary first thing before they were started on the round about journey east from northern California by way of Los Angeles and El Paso.

Fruit men in the San Joaquin valley of California declared they were unable to estimate accurately the damage arising from their inability to make shipments. Some declared it would reach a million dollars a day.

Many cities of the San Joaquin valley, which are served by the Santa Fe, are without mail deliveries.

Eastern mail communication to Southern California, cut off Thursday afternoon with the walkout of the "big four" workers at Needles has not been re-established.

According to a statement issued by J. A. Harder, attorney for the strikers at Roseville, the walkout

WAS ORDERED AS A PROTEST AGAINST THE CONDITION OF ROLLING STOCK, AND LOCOMOTIVE EQUIPMENT AND AGAINST WORKING "SURROUNDED BY ARMED GUARDS WHOSE PROMISCUOUS SHOOTING IS ENDANGERING THEIR LIVES"

"They will not return to work, until the conditions complained of are remedied," Harder added. Local train men declared the walkout there would be a signal for a general strike all over the division, extending from Sacramento to Reno, Nev.

L. H. Hibbard, general manager of the Santa Fe in a statement issued at Los Angeles yesterday described the situation as follows:

"We have now 19 west bound trains with approximately 1700 passengers held up. Of these passengers, there are 297 at Seligman, Ariz., 188 at Williams, Ariz., 236 at Ashfork, Ariz., and about 1,000 at Albuquerque and Belen, N. M."

BIANDED AS CONSPIRACY

CHICAGO (United Press)—Walkout of the "big four" brotherhoods at Needles, Ariz., and other points on the Santa Fe Railroad, was branded as a deliberate conspiracy by Vice-President A. G. Wells of the Santa Fe, today.

"The action of the trainmen was inhuman and a violation of their solemn agreements with the railroad," Wells declared.

Wells stated that the scores of men, women and children marooned at the desert division point were started toward Los Angeles yesterday on a train manned by railroad officials.

"Press dispatches today declare that Attorney General Daugherty has started an investigation to determine if the action of the trainmen was a conspiracy. I desire the public to know it was nothing else," Wells declared in a statement.

"More than that, it was inhuman to abandon people, especially aged or infirm, and women and children in desert places with the mercury 120 in the shade."

Trains were still held up today at Seligman, Ash Fork and Williams, Ariz., and Albuquerque, N. M.

"Big four" members were still out at Joliet III, on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern. Traffic was at a standstill.

REFUSE TO STRIKE

COLUMBUS (United Press)—Threatened walkout of several hundred maintenance men of way men and railroad laborers in protest against the employment by railroads of "undesirable" guards did not materialize here today.

Members of Local Number 1340 of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, at a meeting Sunday, declined to strike on the ground that the head of the brotherhood has ruled against strike action at this time.

"It is the disposition of this branch," said S. G. Linscott, general chairman of the T. & O. C. maintenance of way men, "to recognize executive power, both labor and governmental."

COUNT IS DELAYED

Errors in Primary Returns Holds Up Work

Errors made in counting the vote in other counties has delayed completion of the official vote in senatorial, congressional and judicial districts of which Allen-co is a part.

Returns from several counties when received by the election board here, were found to contain errors, according to A. J. Morris, clerk of the board. These returns were sent back to the original counties for correction.

Practically all of the official vote will be available Tuesday, Morris believes.

Candidates are slow in filing election expense accounts. Aside from the county committeemen, no one has filed. Several however have secured blanks. August 13 is the last day for filing accounts.

DEDICATION OF SEMINARY AT CARTHAGENA SUNDAY

Archbishop Henry Moeller of Cincinnati dedicated the new St. Charles Borromeo seminary at Carthagen, Mercer-co, Sunday before 2,000 persons, including 40 from Lima. Monsignor Manning of St. Rose church, and Rev. Leonard Plumman of St. Johns, were present.

The Rev. Dadaeus Brackman, formerly of St. Rose Catholic church here, now rector of St. Marys preparatory seminary, Burkettsville, delivered the dedication sermon.

Funeral services for F. Vorhees, who died at City hospital, Saturday night, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Williams & Davis mortuary. Interment will be at Woodlawn.

MINER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Striker is Charged With Killing Ohio Farmer

SEVEN OTHERS ARE INDICTED

Result of Row Over Attempt to Open Mine

ST. CLAIRSVILLE (United Press)—Dominick Venturato, first of eight striking coal miners, charged with the murder of John I. Major, at New Lafferty, June 27, went on trial here today.

Robert Farmer, Bridgeport, vice-president of the Eastern Ohio district of the United Mine Workers of America, is one of the eight indicted men.

Major, a farmer of Belmont-co, with $2,000 invested in the Union Coal and Shipping Mine Company, volunteered to work when the mine was reopened in face of the strike.

The morning of the killing, three automobiles carrying workers of the mine left the Hendryburg district, proceeding east to the Lafferty rd intersection. They were met there by Farmer, who urged the men to turn back, declaring the strikers were in an angry mood.

Farmer says Major told him he had money invested in the mine and believed he might get it back by helping out when the fuel supply was running out. Major, who was a deputy sheriff, Alex Huffman, of Lafferty, Ohio, joined Farmer in their plea to Major and his men to turn back.

Major and his followers were greeted at the New Lafferty school house corner by 200 men. The crowd demanded that the workers turn back. During the argument shots were fired.

Major was found dead in his car, with two bullets in his body. Clyde Major, his nephew, was wounded, and Scott Story, in a third machine was hit but not seriously hurt.

A revolver, which had not been fired, was found in Major's pocket.

Besides Venturato and Farmer, Dan Agosto, Dominick Aeldini, Mike Nesbitt, Louis Nodini, Silvio Alexander and Joe Pastello were named in first degree murder incidents.

conference yesterday with United States Senator Pepper, Governor Sprague, W. J. Richards, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co., and W. A. Glasgow Jr., counsel for the United Mine Workers.

At this meeting it became known today, Senator Pepper read a letter from President Harding in which the president declared that further delay in resumption of mining would mean "danger of nothing short of nationwide disaster."

The president said that no time was to be lost in getting the men back into the mines and that if mining was resumed at once, "the future consequences of past delays must necessarily be serious. But if there is any further delay we shall be in danger."

Harding suggested that the operators take the men back at the scale in effect on March 31, 1922, when the suspension began, "until a commission or other agency has had an opportunity to examine into the whole situation."

Warrior, in his telegram to Mr. Lewis, said that the operators had been moved to extend the invitation for a conference "not merely by our own desires, but because the president of the United States has communicated an expression both of his wish and that we should do so and also of his hope that you will accept."

SEE END OF STRIKE

WASHINGTON (United Press)—Administration leaders confident that a settlement of the bituminous coal-strike within the next 48 hours, it was made known here today.

Conferees of the unions and operators at Cleveland, have reached a stage in their negotiations from which an announcement of agreement is momentarily expected, according to the labor department agents at Cleveland today.

A ray of hope in the anthracite situation reached Washington today when it became known that a conference of anthracite miners and operators would be held in Philadelphia this week, probably Wednesday or Thursday. Negotiations looking toward this conference it was said at the labor department, are being pushed very hard by both sides to such a conference is expected.

SOLICITOR QUILTS

Fourth City Official to Resign at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD (Associated Press)—The fourth resignation in a general shakeup at city hall, directed by the majority bloc of the city commission, came when City Solicitor Robert W. Flack today announced he would sever his connections with the city.

Several months ago the five commissioners were split in two portions and the majority bloc assumed control of the city's affairs. This bloc announced its intention of cleaning house at city hall three weeks ago and started with asking for the resignations of the special city counsel McKee, inspector of public works Hickey and Miss Helen Lawless, stenographer. These three resignations have been tendered.

City Manager E. E. Parsons, and City Auditor Forgy Moorehead are the next slated to go under the shakeup plan. This cleaning program is being carried out by the majority bloc on the plea of economy and for lack of harmony between the employees and the commission.

COURT RELEASES MEN CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

John R. Murphy, 45, 314 W. Vine-st, and John Smith, 35, 328 S. Main-st, alleged to have committed assaults on a B. & O. railroad shop guard, were ordered released, Monday, by Judge Emmett Jackson, of Criminal court.

Jackson issued the order when B. & O. officials who had arrested the men failed to appear to prosecute the charges against the men.

Murphy and Smith are alleged to have assaulted L. J. Hoke, guard, who filed complaint against them when the arrest was made Sunday.

BIG HOSPITAL FOR CITY PLANNED

Campaign Will Start With Normal Conditions, Officials Say

Project May be Discussed at Meeting Tonight

LIMA OUTGROWS FACILITIES

Lima will have a new $500,000 hospital, if plans of members of the Lima city hospital board materialize.

This announcement was made Monday by J. R. Rickoff, one of the members of the hospital board.

An institution complete in every detail with quarters that will rival that of the modern hospitals in the country is being planned by the board members.

Active work on a campaign to make sure of the new institution will begin as soon as business conditions are such as to warrant promoting the project.

Conditions only, halt development of the plans at the present time, Rickoff declared.

A new site, as well as a new building is included in the plans, Rickoff declared.

Nothing short of half a million dollars will be considered he said. Such a sum, Rickoff believes would enable the construction and equipment of a kind of hospital necessary in this city.

LIMA OUTGROWS FACILITIES

Lima, he believes, has outgrown the facilities offered by the two hospitals. The completion of St. Rita's, considered one of the best hospitals in this state, afforded considerable relief for the situation here, yet another hospital is believed necessary.

The present City hospital, located on E. Market-st, is taxed to capacity practically all the time, Rickoff says. The need of another institution, newer, more complete and more modern is demonstrated every day, he says.

"Business conditions are all that is holding up our plans at present," Rickoff said. "It would be folly for us to attempt to launch a campaign at the present time with so many people out of work and the present industrial unrest."

As soon as things are settled, however, he added, "we expect to go after the new hospital. Nothing short of $500,000 will do what we expect to do."

The hospital board is scheduled to meet Monday night. It is expected that informal discussion of the proposed building project will take place at the meeting.

125 PASSENGERS ARE RESCUED

Taken from Train Stranded on Arizona Desert

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (Associated Press)—A Santa Fe relief train carrying approximately 125 passengers, many of whom still were suffering from effects of the terrific heat of the desert, arrived here from Needles last night after four days delay, when train service men refused to proceed. Santa Fe officials manned the relief train. A physician and a nurse boarded the train to treat J. M. Norris, aged 31 years, Los Angeles, who was overcome by the heat of the desert.

William Henricks, machine U. S. Navy, en route to San Diego, worked continuously over the sick man as the train sped on to San Bernardino.

"Grandma" Malissa Wooden, aged 94 years, and traveling alone from the east to her home in Berkeley, Calif., was smiling when the train arrived here, although so weak she could hardly talk.

BATTLE TO SAVE BABY

A pitiful story of how a mother and father fought death for their 18-month-old baby was told by Mr. and Mrs. William Hebrue, of Denver, Colo., traveling to San Diego.

Mrs. Hebrue slept but a few hours in three days, working nearly all the time with her husband over the child, Robert, overcome by the heat.

"For three days we were unable to procure any fresh milk for the baby," Mrs. Hebrue said. "A woman's organization finally secured the milk. I am sure their attention saved Robert's life. The temperature in the Pullman cars registered 130 degrees during the day."

Mrs. Mary C. Howell of Columbus, O., said the Santa Fe officials did everything in their power to aid the stranded passengers.

SCENE DESCRIBED

Picture a broad, sandy almost white plain, broken by little hills and gullies or arroyos. Put sage brush and Jonathan trees on it. Run the Colorado river sluggishly along one side, thru a channel at present about five-sixths too large for the water it is to carry—a very few young trees, and a green lawn here and there. Scatter a small western town over an area perhaps a mile square when it might be compressed into four or five blocks. Place over it a brassy sky, an intense penetrating heat and a hot breeze that dries the marrow and a fair idea of Needles will result.

City Manager Explains New Government to Rotarians

SAVINGS THRU EFFICIENCY

Plans for Future Development Are Discussed

Their Impression After Last Conference With Harding

PEACE UP TO UNION CHIEFS

Shopmen's Answer to President Not Made Public

Service and courtesy is the keynote of the administration of civic affairs by the city commission, C. A. Bingham, city manager, told members of the Rotary club at their luncheon Monday night.

In serving the city the commission has had to take cognizance of the work of the federal type of government used previously, has continued operations and has played for the future all at the same time, he said.

Much good has been seen from the start, especially in the methods of handling the business of the city, he explained. This is shown by savings in money effected, Bingham believes.

Approximately $12,000 has been saved the city in the purchase of cast iron pipe for use in the water main extensions. This will pay the salaries of the city manager, the commission, and the purchasing agent, he pointed out.

In the years 1918-19-20 and 21 a total of $183,000 of street paving was done. This year, a total of $404,000 will be started and if possible completed. Much street repaving is also being done, Bingham said.

Billie are being paid promptly. Trade discounts are being received and two percent cash discount asked and received by the city on all purchases possible, he said.

DISCOUNTS CUT EXPENSE
In a year these discounts mount up to an appreciable figure and have permitted so far the operation of the city departments on less than budget estimates, he said.

At the present time every order leaving the city hall is certified by the auditor and money reserved to pay it. This makes it impossible for appropriations to be exceeded and assures each dealer the prompt payment of his claim, Bingham stated.

During the first six months the city's expenses were $21,000 under those of the same period the year before. At the same time $10,000 in old bills was paid off and the per diem wound up with a balance in the funds, he pointed out.

In sewer work two city has been making tremendous strides forward. At the present time $700,000 worth of intercepting and relief sewers are being installed and $900,000 more will be voted Monday night, he said.

New sewers will drain the Heidelberg, Walt town and adjacent districts and complete the greater portion of the sewer lines, Bingham said.

Approval of the state board of health as to the sewage disposal plant is looked for soon and a $400,000 plant erected to care for the sewage which now pours into the Otway river, he said.

Four inch watermains have been taken up and eight and 12 inch lines laid in many portions of the city. Large supply lines have been laid and the mains extended into much new territory. In all, 16 miles are now planned for at a cost of $194,000, he pointed out.

A nightly patrol of the street lights and particularly the boulevard light system has been instituted and a dark light is replaced within 24 hours after it goes dead, Bingham said.

DEPARTMENTS REORGANIZED
He said reorganization of the police department along efficiency lines had been effected, new equipment added and the work speeded in the right direction. A reorganization of the fire department by the addition of new equipment has also been started, he said.

Codification of city records to prevent their loss and to make them more accessible has been started. Many delays and losses are suffered because the records are not in the best of shape, he pointed out.

Charts and tables have been prepared for use by the various departments and also for the information of citizens who may desire to examine them, Bingham said.

Don't Be Fooled

"FOOL me once," says the proverb, "and it's shame on you. Fool me twice and it's shame on me."

Don't be fooled when it comes to spending your money. Patronize the merchants who have a reputation for fair dealing and honesty. Such motives must actuate the consistent advertiser. The man who invests real money in building a reputation for himself and his merchandise cannot afford to risk any of it by taking unfair advantage of his patrons.

The consistent advertiser pays money to tell you about his goods. He knows they are good—he backs them with his money because he believes they will satisfy. Only merchandise which is consistently good can be consistently advertised.

So advertising protects you against fraud and inferiority. It tells you what is new and good, making you a wise buyer. It saves you money by pointing out for your consideration only the best products and the best places to buy them.

Thrifty men and women read the advertisements. To them it is a plain every-day business proposition—a duty they owe to themselves and to their pocketbooks.

Don't be fooled.

Don't spend your money blindly.
Read the advertisements.

HOARDING THRILLS

E. R. WAELDE has never taken a railroad trip, tho for 39 years he has been the railroad station agent at Milton, N. Y.

Now, retired on a pension at the age of 57, he starts a 7000-mile jaunt in a Pullman. He will travel over the continent, visiting the alluring places to which he has been selling tickets since 1883.

To put yourself in his place for a moment, just recall your breathless excitement when you took your first railroad trip, long ago.

Many a man who figuratively "has seen and done everything" would trade several years of his life, to have followed Waelde's system and saved up a few of life's simple thrills.

Youth says, "Hooray! I'm going there. First trip! Don't you wish you were me?"

Old age, conceited, cynical, boasts scornfully, "Aw, I've been there. Don't expect too much. You're apt to be disappointed."

Yet old age envies youth's excitement and anticipation. When those are gone, youth is gone—and, with it, most of life that is really worth while.

Joy is in the pursuit and conquest, not in the capture and victory.

Anticipation beats realization.

You young men, taking hard knocks, trying your strength, you do not realize it but with all your hardships and disappointments you are living the best time of your lives. The trip is the thing that counts, not the destination.

The lure of the sea, also its charm, is in the voyage rather than the far-off port.

Young women, too, some day will look back with misty eyes and long for the dream-land of girlhood.

Don't be impatient. Everything in life comes—oh, only too soon.

ENGINEERING WITH CAMERA

GREAT is progress! When George Washington set out as a young man to survey the wilds of this great domain his equipment was very meagre. If he were to return today and visit Lima's engineering department he would find it equipped not only with the latest apparatus for running lines and levels and performing other work common to civil engineers, but also with a camera.

The camera is the latest addition to Engineer Miller's office. He announces that a high-priced machine has been purchased for the purpose of making pictorial history of progress in the city. He expects it to more than pay for itself by supplying evidence in litigation that might arise.

Snap-shooting is a great fad. We have an idea that the engineering department, being human, will follow pretty much the same lines the average amateur does—shoot pictures right and left for a time and then grow tired of it.

To make his department a little more complete, Mr. Miller might add a record of the daily cussings Main-st gets, a device to record the intensity of the odor from Hawg Creek and a book for daily entries of remarks concerning a public square without a shelter house.

LOWER RENTS

national economic movements frequently start in Chicago. Lower rents are coming everywhere, only a question of time.

SPENDING MONEY

HOW big an income would it take to satisfy you?

Robert C. Mankowski, globe-trotter and big game hunter, says he cannot make both ends meet on $20,000 a year. He petitions the New York courts to double his allowance.

At that, there are plenty who would consider $20,000 a year a mild form of poverty. Big prizes to the winners in the American fortune lottery. Few winners.

In the moonshine, strolled down the Avenue. There's our one-time maid driving a Packard, and stopping for a glace. America is a great state. The ups have it this year, but maybe the downs will be on top next. And some one told me when they read about the strike of the Big Four on the Santa Fe that he never knew the Big Four went west of St. Louis. So, thinking our children will call it nightauto instead of nightmare, I to bed.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

THE CANCER PROBLEM

(BY DR. R. H. BISHOP)

There is a crying need for the dissemination of a lot of information to the public on the subject of cancer.

Appendicitis used to be a practically fatal disease. Not until the fact was broadcasted thoroly that speedy operation was the only salvation did appendicitis lose its dread reputation. Something of the sort must be done in the case of cancer.

Cancer is confined almost exclusively to adult life. Largely because of neglect and ignorance, nine out of ten cases are fatal. Yet if proper precaution and treatment were observed, it is probable that more than half of these deaths could be prevented.

There are three forms of unnecessary worry about cancer. People often believe it is contagious, hereditary or a blood disease. It is none of these.

The most dangerous thing about cancer is that its onset is frequently painless. If it were painful from the first most people would take warning and less cases would be fatal. It is, therefore, the part of wisdom for all adults to have insidious sores that have been irritated for some time examined.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

If you want to keep your child's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multisided in a cup or glass with a little warm water, and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it oil shampoo at any drug store. It fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your drug-gist gives you Multisided—Adv.

LAUNCHING THE MARRIAGE SHIP

A secret rival for her husband's love! The young bride felt a shudder of terror—
Then the stormy quarrel. She felt she could defeat another woman—outwit any vampire who might attempt to steal her husband's affections. But against this rival she had only anger, hysteria, and the wild impulse to exercise the tyranny of tears.
Her rival was her husband's business! She feared he thought more of making a success of business than making a success of marriage.
Was she, the charming hostess, to be another one of his "selling points"?
Was her table to be an adjunct to the business office? How one bride met and settled this question is told by

THE RED HOUSE MYSTERY

By A. A. MILLER

man's head had been, and Antony knelt down over it, as he knelt twenty-four hours before.

"I want to go thru it again," he said. "You must be Cayley. Cayley said he would get some water. Now then, Bill, just pretend you're Cayley. You've just said something about water, and you got up."

Feeling that it was all a little uncanny, Bill, who had been kneeling beside his friend, got up and walked out. Antony, as he had done on the previous day, looked up after him as he went. Bill turned into the room on the right, and came back. "Well?" he said wonderingly. "Antony shook his head. 'It's all different,' he said. 'For one thing, you make a devil of a noise in there and Cayley didn't. Perhaps you weren't listening when Cayley went in.' 'I wasn't. But I should have heard him if I could have heard him, and I should have remembered afterward.' 'Perhaps Cayley shut the door after him.' 'Wait!'

He pressed his hand over his eyes and thought. It wasn't anything which he had heard, but something which he had seen. He tried desperately hard to see it again. He saw Cayley getting up, opening the door from the office, leaving it open and walking into the passage, turning to the door on the right, opening it, going in, and then—What did his eyes see after that? If they would only tell him again!

Suddenly he jumped up, his face aghast. "Bill, I've got it!" he cried. "The shadow on the wall! I was looking at the shadow on the wall. Oh, yes, and ten times as!"

Bill looked uncomprehendingly at him. Antony took his arm and pointed to the wall of the passage. "Look at the sunlight on it," he said. "That's because you've left the door of that room open. The sun comes straight in thru the windows. Now, I'm going to shut the door. Look! I've got it. How the shadow moves across? What's what I saw—the shadow moving across as the door shut behind him. Bill, go in and shut the door behind you—quite naturally. Quick!"

Bill went out and Antony knelt, watching eagerly. "I thought so!" he cried. "I knew it couldn't have been that." "What happened?" said Bill, coming back. "Just what you would expect. The sunlight came, and the shadow moved back again—all in one movement."

"And what happened yesterday?" "The sunlight stayed there; and then the shadow came very slowly back, and there was no noise of the door being shut."

Bill looked at him with startled eyes. "By Jove! You mean that Cayley closed the door afterward—as an afterthought—and very quietly, so that you couldn't hear?"

Antony nodded. "Yes. That explains why I was surprised afterward when I went into the room to find the door open behind me. You know how those doors with springs on them close?"

"The sort which old gentlemen have to keep out draughts?"

"Yes. Just at first they hardly move at all, and then very, very slowly they swing in—well, that was the way the shadow moved, and subconsciously I must have associated it with the movement of that sort of door. By Jove!" He got up, and dusted his knees. "Now, Bill, just to make sure, go in and close the door like that. As an afterthought, you know; and very quiet—" ly, so that I don't hear the click of it."

Bill did as he was told, and then put his head out eagerly to hear what had happened.

"That was it," said Antony, with absolute conviction. "That was just what I saw yesterday." He came out of the office, and joined Bill in the little room.

"And now," he said, "let's try and find out what it was that Mr. Cayley was doing in here, and why he had to be so very careful that his friend Mr. Gillingham didn't overhear him."

CHAPTER XIII

Antony's first thought was that Cayley had hidden something—but that was absurd, in the time at his disposal, he could have done no more than put it away in a drawer, where it would be much more open to discovery by Antony than if he had kept it in his pocket.

Bill pulled open a drawer in the chest, and looked inside. "Why did he keep clothes here at all?" Antony asked. "Did he ever change down here?"

"My dear Tony, he had more clothes than anybody in the world. He just kept them here in case they might be useful, I expect."

"I see. Yes," he was walking around the room as he answered, and he lifted the top of the linen basket which stood near the wash basin and glanced in. "He seems to have come in here for a collar lately."

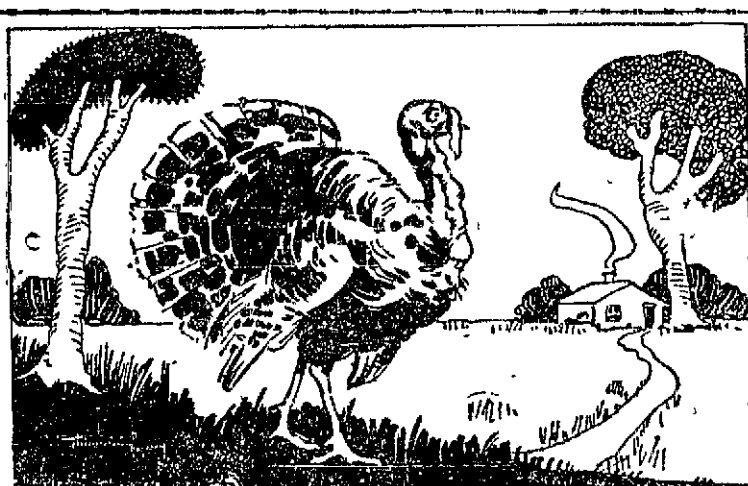

Bill peered in. There was one collar at the bottom of the basket. "Yes, I daresay he would," he agreed. "If he suddenly found that the one he was wearing was uncomfortable or a little bit dirty, or something. He was very fussy."

Antony leant over and picked it out. "It must have been uncomfortable."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

TURKEY TURNS INTO GUINEA-FOWL!

By Olive Roberts Barton

All day long he'd wandered up and down the wheat field and out field and all kinds of fields.

Gaddy Gobble-Turkey was asleep under a fence.

All day long he'd wandered up and down wheat fields and out fields, and all sorts of fields, stuffing out his sides and his tummy until he looked like a large brown watermelon with two legs and a head.

So now in the cool shade of the wood-pile and right under a fence, he was dreaming. And like all folks who eat too much just before they go to sleep, he was having a nightmare.

He dreamed he was turned into a guinea-fowl with little white dots all over him.

Gaddy didn't like guinea-fowl. He hated them.

"Every time I try to go to sleep they start to screech like someone getting a tooth pulled!" he complained to the other barnyarders. And everybody agreed with him.

Well, Gaddy went on dreaming and dreaming, or rather nightmaring and nightmaring.

Farmer Smith was white-washing the fence nearby.

By and by he came to the place where Gaddy Gobble-Turkey was asleep, but he didn't see him.

Splash, splunkie, splash went the white-wash, right thru the fence and on Gaddy's brown feathers.

After while Gaddy woke up.

"Oh, what an awful dream I've had!" he said.

Suddenly he saw his back, looking like a piece of brown dotted swiss.

"Oh! Oh!" he shrieked, screaming off to Dr. Snuffles' house. "My dream came true. Help!"

But Dr. Snuffles, the fairymen

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Have You Tried It?

Everybody has read the above headline; how many believe it? Have you a little one in the home, and has that dear little mite when its stomach was not just right felt the comforts that come with the use of Fletcher's Castoria? You have heard the cry of pain. Have you heard them cry for Fletcher's Castoria? Try it.

Just help baby out of its trouble tomorrow with a taste of Castoria. Watch the difference in the tone of the cry, the look in the eye, the wiggle in the tiny fingers. The transformation is complete from pain to pleasure. Try it.

You'll find a wonderful lot of information about Baby in the booklet that is wrapped around every bottle of Fletcher's Castoria.

CLUB CALENDAR

TUESDAY
Miss Lena Stulper welcomes Missionary society of First Reformed church, evening.

Miss Regina Miller, 611 S. Metcalf-st., and the Misses Helen and Monica Veit, of Wapakoneta, entertained at a luncheon party, Saturday evening, honoring Miss Thelma Erick and Miss Gertrude Butler, who will leave in September, to take up work in the convent.

Rooms of the Miller home were artistically decorated in pink roses and bowls of garden flowers in various hues. Supper was served, the table holding an immense pink and white cake. Streamers of these dainty colors were festooned from the chandelier to the table, adding an attractive note of color. Pink candles, with shades of a corresponding hue, shed their glow over the table.

Efforts in contests went to the Misses Thelma Erick and Clementine Stein and Messrs. Donald Casey and Neal Jorwers. Dancing concluded the evening's pleasures.

Guests were the Misses Clara Keiffer, Margaret Duins, Clementine Stein, Ft. Wayne, Messrs. Norbert Forley, Donald Casey, Neal Jorwers, Heinrich Kayser, Loyals Quinlan and Ralph Bowsher, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Veit of Wapakoneta and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Erick. Mrs. C. T. Miller assisted her daughter in receiving and entertaining the guests.

Miss Geraldine Duffield, 715 W. North-st., will entertain at the Elks' home, Wednesday, the afternoon hours to be devoted to bridge. For the most part, members of her bridge club will be guests.

Miss Laveria Kohler, 610 W. Elm-st., is expecting the arrival of two guests Tuesday, Miss Elsie Parker, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Mary Teasorth of Findlay. Miss Kohler will entertain in their honor at dinner at the Elks' home, Wednesday.

Mrs. Alfred Weimer and Mrs. William P. Deisel will entertain at luncheon at Shawnee Country club, members of the bridge club, of which both are members, being invited.

Mrs. Rhonda Zellitz Croly invited in a company of intimate friends quite informally to her Shawnee-park home, Monday afternoon, to meet Mrs. Louis Laudick, Washington, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. C. Ross, 333 W. North-st. Bridge was played and tea was enjoyed afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nicolet and daughter, Mrs. W. H. Francis and mother, Mrs. W. D. Yankum, motored to Lafayette park, for the week-end, where they enjoyed a delightful picnic dinner.

Mrs. Howard Helser, Lafayette, was hostess to the Harmony club, at the regular weekly meeting. Events of the wedding of each were given in response to roll call. The time was spent in singing and the company enjoyed luncheon.

PILOT IS PEEVED AT AIRPLANE WEDDING—CAN'T KISS BRIDE

(BY PHILIP J. SINNOTT)

PORTLAND, Ore.—High in the air above a crowd of thousands soars an airplane.

In it a happy girl—blushing, of course—and a swain—embarrassed, of course—and a pilot, indifferent to everything but engine and controls and gas.

Ten miles away in a Portland broadcasting station is the Rev. Russell M. Brougher. His prayer book in his hand, open at the marriage ritual. He stands before a radio transmitter.

"Hello, bride party, hello!" he shouts into the instrument.

"Hello," come the reply thru the air. "Let us pray."

And thru amplifiers and ear sets the clergyman pronounces Roy H. Schnepfel and Miss Eva Burdick man and wife.

Thus is performed the most up-to-date second marriage in America.

"Humph," says the pilot. "It all right, but how can I kiss the bride without wrecking the bridal cake?"

MR. AND MRS. ROY SCHNEPFEL AFTER THEIR AIRPLANE WEDDING AND (BELOW) THE REV. RUSSELL M. BROUGHER WHO MARRIED THEM BY RADIO.

APPLICANTS FOR TRAINING IN NORMAL SCHOOL HERE TO BE SELECTED THIS WEEK

Thirty of the 70 Allen-co young men and young women who are applicants for the city-county normal school for next term will be selected this week, according to County Superintendent, C. A. Arganbright.

Owing to limited facilities at Central High school, the class must be cut to that number and Arganbright says those who hold the best scholastic records will be chosen. All are graduates of High schools.

The normal students probably will be evenly divided between Lima and the district, it was said. There are 40 applicants from the city and 30 from country territory.

Those who are not successful in entering here will find there are excellent courses at Ada, Oxford and other Ohio towns where colleges are located, the superintendent stated.

The large number of applicants is taken by Arganbright to mean that interest in the teaching profession has taken an upturn even more marked than that in the two years after close of the late war.

Competition for school positions has become more keen and the school term of 1922-23 is expected by Arganbright to be the best in the history of the county.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart—
I would consider it a great favor if you would send me the name of a medicine to aid in the reduction of my weight. There are such remedies, I know, but I do not know the names of them. I have tried everything without results. Please answer at once.

FRANCIS.
CHER UP, Miss Francis, the reducing process isn't nearly as terrible and as hopeless as you may believe. True, there are a number of so-called "reducers" on the market, but physicians seldom prescribe their use, in cases of obesity. The sure, safe and sane method of reducing one's weight is by dieting, plus exercise.

This method is by no means easy, and unless you have a will of iron, you will slip up on it many a day. However, a few simple rules followed to the letter, will bring your weight down to normal.

1. Avoid eating potatoes, butter, bread, rice, cream, nuts, fat meat, sweets, pastries, etc. In their stead substitute a diet of fresh vegetables, plenty of fruit, whole wheat bread, and drink plenty of water.

2. Walk all you can—from three to five miles a day if possible.

3. Have your meals at regular intervals, increasing the number of times as you grow accustomed to them.

Dieting does not mean starving oneself, as many people imagine. It consists merely in eating the right kind of food, food that nourishes without fattening.

Dear Miss Smart—
I was introduced to a young man to whom I was greatly attracted. This young man asked me to go out with him. He said he wanted to take me to a show some evening, and I consented to go.

A week later this friend of mine, I learned that she was married and had several children, but does not live with her husband. It is rumored that he is going to divorce her.

Is it wise for me to go out with him? Should I ask him about the marriage or should I remain silent?

No, Lena, you should not go out with the man at all. If he deceived you, posing as a single man, he certainly would not mean much to you in the way of happiness. Have you ever stopped to think that, were he more straightforward and above board, he would perhaps have no need for a divorce? That is probably the reason he cannot get along with his wife—he doesn't know how to play square. Take a little time off to think it over, my dear, and I am sure you will proceed to forget him.

Dear Miss Susie—
My hair is naturally a pretty auburn shade, but lately it has been getting much darker. I would like to know if you can tell me what will restore it to its natural shade and what will make it glossy again?

MRS. D. M. LARICK.
The condition of the general health often is reflected in the hair. Perhaps the faded condition of your hair is due to ill health, and can be remedied only by bringing the health up to 100 per cent.

If, on the other hand, the condition is not traceable to poor health, it is likely caused by using injurious soaps or lotions. Use a mild soap to shampoo your hair well, dissolving it first in hot water. Never apply soap in cake form to your head. Rinse three times, at least, and when the hair has been thoroughly dried, apply a small quantity of lotion made by mixing 1 teaspoonful of castor oil to one-quarter pint of water. This will restore the gloss.

WOMAN HURT IN CRASH ABLE TO RESUME JOURNEY

H. L. Hewson and wife, traveling from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, who were forced to stop here Saturday, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a machine driven by J. A. Carpenter of the Manufacturers Supply Co., will probably continue their journey Tuesday morning, they said Monday.

Mrs. Hewson suffered a bruised blood vessel in her leg as a result of the accident. It is said. A wheel was knocked off the Hewson machine.

RAILROAD WIPES OUT DOG TEAM

Sudden, Amazing Change in Alaskan Transportation

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA.—(Associated Press.) "All aboard, train for the interior." Thus sang out the white coated porter, standing with step in hand at the rear of the "Sourdough" limited. Glancing along the train it is found to be made up of express and baggage car, day coach, Pullman sleeper and an observation chair car.

It seems incongruous that this equipment is ready to dash thru the heart of Alaska and bring up on the banks of the Tanana river, that mighty stream whose mere name conjured up visions of argonauts, dog teams, myriads of grub and the old days when only strong men reached the Tanana.

Today the thru freight took the place of the mixed train operated heretofore and a regular bi-weekly passenger and freight service has been installed.

GREAT CHANGES
Travelers recall a trip over this route two years ago. It entailed a mixed train that began to crawl along as it entered the Broad Pass country, where operation extended almost to the last rail laid. Then came the horse-drawn sleigh or dog team to the next roadhouse at Summit, a bleak, desolate spot in winter, hemmed in by icy mountains and swept by wintry blasts. Overnight at the crude roadhouse and the trip was continued to Neena, on the banks of the Tanana, down a dangerous canyon where the dog sled clung to the biting cliffs by the teeth of the brake. Maybe it was 40 degrees below zero and only the hardy or those compelled to take the trip braved it.

SCENIC GRANDIEUR
Today this same country is unfolded in scenic grandeur from the window of the Pullman or the rear platform of the observation parlor car, or maybe while dining in the buffet car.

The change has been so sudden and so complete that the old-timers are finding it hard to readjust their lives to the new conditions. The railroad has wiped away the dog team as a means of transportation and swept in the horse-drawn sleigh over the Richardson highway from Valdez is but a tourist adventure; automobiles take the place of the stage in summer and the railroad now serves a country, extending to Nome on the northwest and the Arctic slope to the north, down the Tanana from the Fairbanks to the Yukon and up the Yukon to Dawson—a veritable adventure for the tourist who has absorbed the romance of the days of '98.

JACKSON BACK ON BENCH; ORDERS ENRICH CITY $80

Judge Emmet Jackson, Criminal court, returned to the police bench Monday morning.

Five cases of drunkenness brought before him were disposed of with lightning like rapidity, and $80 was added to the city treasury.

Failure of W. G. Reese, Marshall hotel, and Charles Miller, 1013 E. High-st., to appear brought a sherry over from the court. "Bonds forfeited," the judge declared. Fifty dollars was handed over by police to the court; $25 for each case.

Earnest Gunther, 1331 W. Market-st., James Carroll, Toledo, and Erma Hall, Grand-av., pleaded guilty to drunk charges.

"Plead guilty," the judge said to Gunther and Carroll. Sentences was not passed on the Hall woman. Her case was ordered investigated.

ART WORK PRODUCED BY STUDENTS OF WELFARE ASSOCIATION EXHIBITED

Specimens of the basket weaver's art mingled with needlework, the colored patterns of animate and inanimate objects painted by youthful hands and many other articles of the Buteau show windows were filled with work produced by children under auspices of the Child Welfare association.

All recreational centers of the city—Pacora, Lincoln, Whittier and McCullough—are represented in the display, which attracted much attention and elicited praise from passersby.

Development of the artistic eye along with the development of children's bodies is the chief reason for the association's fostering industrial work in connection with recreation.

The most preference has been shown weaving, scattered here and there among the exhibits may be seen delightful little pieces of art produced from the most simple materials, such as pasteboard, odds and ends of wood and fabrics of all kinds.

HOME FURNISHED BY WIFE FAILS TO HOLD HUSBAND, DIVORCE PLEA DECLARES

Savings amounting to $1,300 were spent in furnishing a home following the marriage of Lucille Guiss to Roy O. W. Woodruff, March 10, 1919, according to allegations made by the wife in a divorce petition filed in common pleas court Monday.

Mrs. Woodruff who resides in 115 E. Kibby-st., and says that the money belonged to her.

After the money was spent, Woodruff appeared to lose interest in home affairs, according to the petition.

He would leave home and remain absent for weeks at a time, his wife says.

She declares she has been largely dependent upon her own resources for maintenance since their marriage.

Woodruff disappeared from Lima July 1, the petition says.

The right to resume her former name is asked by the plaintiff.

SOUTH SIDE MAY GET LANDING

Idle Ground Proposed for Municipal Airplane Field

WOULD REMOVE OLD EYESORE

Committee Headed by Jackson Will Investigate

The big plot of ground that extends from the river to Kibby-st., bounded on one side by McDonnell-st. and on the other by Pierce-st., may at last be put to some practical use.

For years an eyesore to residents of south Lima, and the object of frequent discussions and attempts to put it to some use, it has practically been opened for the use of the most modern of all uses to which land can be put.

The plot of ground may become the municipal airplane landing field for the city of Lima.

Such were indications Monday when Emmett Jackson, judge of criminal court, chairman of a committee to investigate the project of providing the city with an aviation field, received a communication in which the plot of ground was mentioned.

LETTER IS RECEIVED
The letter was addressed to Jackson by James W. Halthall, Jr., attorney for Miss Adella Satterthwait, owner of the land.

It was suggested that the judge discuss the possibility of using the plot of ground for the proposed aviation field. It also invited correspondence concerning it. A notation on the letter said that a duplicate copy had been sent to the owner of the land.

Jackson said he will bring the matter before his committee and that an investigation of the feasibility of using the field will be conducted.

For as long as south Lima people can remember, they say, attempts have been made to put the large open space to use, but to no avail. The owner, it is said, refused to permit any building to take place upon it. At one time, a movement to condemn the lot for school use, was proposed, but it also failed.

Indications now are that the owner is willing to open the field for some use, Jackson says.

CABLE IN OPERATION
MIAMI, Fla.—The Miami-Bahia dos Western Union cable, long the subject of dispute between the government and the cable company, was in operation today between Miami and Pernambuco, via Bahardos.

CORK EVACUATED
The irregulars who evacuated Cork before the advance of the national troops have apparently been completely routed. The hills across the border in county Kerry are sheltering large numbers of irregulars. The barracks at Fermoy, north of Cork were burned by the irregulars yesterday previous to their evacuating the town.

It is rumored that Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, has been arrested, together with Mary MacSwiney. The whereabouts of Eamon De Valera remains a mystery. When last seen here, he was driving westward in a closed carriage. This was on Thursday evening, shortly after the irregulars had left the city.

All of eastern County Cork has now been taken by the national army. The death of Arthur Griffith has caused a profound sensation in Cork and the opinion is widely expressed that there is no one to take his place at this critical period.

HARD BLOW TO IRELAND
DUBLIN (Associated Press).—Michael Collins, interviewed today at the field headquarters of the national army termed Arthur Griffith's death a calamity for Ireland and said it was not too late for Eamon De Valera and his followers to honor the passing of a great patriot by accepting the terms of the free state government offered to achieve the unity of Ireland.

The body of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail Eireann cabinet, lay in state today in Dublin city hall. Thousands streamed by the bier, around which was stationed a guard of honor from the National army.

The body will lie in state until tomorrow night when it will be removed to the Pro-Cathedral. Archbishop Byrne will preside at solemn requiem mass at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, the funeral and burial at Glasnevin. Dublin northern suburb, immediately following.

In the Protestant churches yesterday, remarkable tributes were paid to Mr. Griffith; the trend of which was that the free state had lost in him a pillar of strength.

LEARN A WORD A DAY
TODAY'S word is—EPI-RODE.
It's pronounced—ep-i-rod, with accent on the first syllable.
It means—an incidental experience; a separate incident in a story, introduced to give variety; a digression, separate from some main subject and yet naturally arising from it. Originally, as used by ancient Greek playwrights, it meant that part of a tragedy between two choros songs—the equivalent of an "act" in a modern play.
It comes from—a combination of Greek words meaning "coming in besides."
It's used like this—"Our recent strikes are episodes in the still-running story of 'the post-war readjustment of relations between Capital and Labor.'"

Dundalk National Garrison Captured in Surprise Attack

IRREGULARS EVACUATE CORK

Calamity to Country Seen in Griffith's Death

BELFAST (Associated Press).—A large force of Republican entered Dundalk at 3:00 o'clock this morning, taking the national garrison completely by surprise. The attack was successful and the town is now isolated with Republican troops patrolling the streets.

FIRM'S HEAD TO RETIRE

G. Shedd to Quit Marshall Field & Co.

SIMPSON WILL SUCCEED HIM

President-elect Started With Concern as Office Boy

(BY B. C. FORBES)

CHICAGO.—(Special).—Now in the midst of the busy season, the Marshall Field & Co. store, which is the largest in the world, is preparing to bid adieu to its head. Mr. G. Shedd, who has been in the store for 55 years, is retiring after a long and successful career.

Mr. Shedd celebrated the completion of his half century with the store on the day before yesterday. He has been in the store since 1865, when he was a boy of 15. He has seen the store grow from a small shop to the largest in the world. He has seen the store through many changes of ownership and management. He has seen the store through many hard times and many easy times. He has seen the store through many changes of fashion and many changes of taste. He has seen the store through many changes of the world. He has seen the store through many changes of the store.

Mr. Shedd's successor as head of the store will be James M. Simpson, who has been in the store for 15 years. Mr. Simpson is a young man of 35, who has been in the store since 1915. He has been in the store through many changes of ownership and management. He has seen the store through many hard times and many easy times. He has seen the store through many changes of fashion and many changes of taste. He has seen the store through many changes of the world. He has seen the store through many changes of the store.

Mr. Shedd is retiring to his home in the country. He has been in the store for 55 years, and he has seen the store grow from a small shop to the largest in the world. He has seen the store through many changes of ownership and management. He has seen the store through many hard times and many easy times. He has seen the store through many changes of fashion and many changes of taste. He has seen the store through many changes of the world. He has seen the store through many changes of the store.

ALLIES END MEET.

Premier's Conference on Financial Chaos Fails

LONDON.—(United Press)—The allied premiers' conference on European financial chaos ended this morning in failure to reach an agreement. The British cabinet met this afternoon to consider the position.

Following the adjournment of the morning session, the premiers officially stated no further meetings had been arranged. Secretarial forces began packing up, preparing for departure.

"The conference is finished entirely," one high official declared.

Some believed, however, that the meeting of the British cabinet may alter the situation.

MRS. RANDALL APPOINTED GUARDIAN OF HEIRS TO T. REED DUNLAP ESTATE

Mrs. Henrietta Randall, 407 S. Cole-st was appointed guardian of the property of May Randall Dunlap, 13 and Joseph Howard Dunlap, 5, by Judge J. H. Hamilton in probate court Monday. The children are heirs of the late T. Reed Dunlap.

Property belonging to the children is valued at $60,000, report to the court shows, and has a rental value of $8,000 a year.
